Mini-Masters (ages 4-5) Studio projects encourage children to explore the Museum collection.

Color Caravan (ages 5-6) Red, yellow, and blue take young artists on an adventure to other colors in paintings, drawings, and fabrications.

Kaleidoscope (ages 5-6) Variety is the spice of life: children draw, paint, and construct projects inspired by special exhibitions and the Museum collection.

Masquerade Brigade (ages 6-7) Children turn fantasies into realities making masks, crowns, capes, and Egyptian head-dresses to wear.

Horsefeathers (ages 6-7) Young artists dream up flying creatures—maybe a genie with wings or a two-headed dragon.

The Shape of It (ages 8-10) Totem poles, African masks, and castles grow from paper bags and cardboard tubes, for youngsters who want to work in three dimensions.

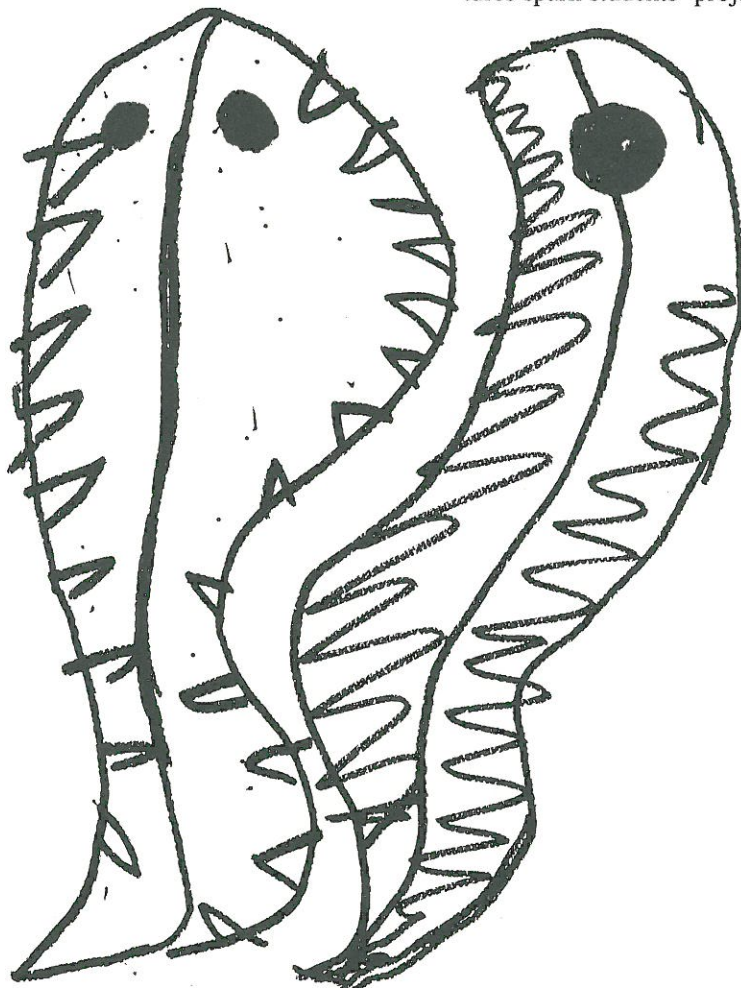

Imagination Station (ages 8-10) Fantastic dream creatures and supernatural beings depicted in the arts of many cultures spark students' projects.

Up, Up & Away (ages 10-12) Art that glides, soars and flutters in the breeze: mobiles, pin-wheels, paper airplanes, kites, banners, and streamers.

Beasts & Feasts (ages 10-12) The life and art of the Middle Ages, complete with knights, jousts, castles, unicorns, and crowns, recreated in a variety of materials.

Time Warp (ages 11-14) Art of the past, from mummy cases to armor, to visions of the art of the 21st century.
